BATMAN•SUPERMAN

Who's Laughing Now?

Thought that the twisted tale of the Batman Who Laughs would end with the sixth issue? Think again! Not only has DC expanded the series with the addition of a seventh issue scheduled for July release, but the story will continue from there in the pages of an all-new Batman/Superman series.

The Batman Who Laughs #7 (by Scott Snyder & Jock) will feature the final showdown between Batman and his Dark Multiverse nemesis—but how can Batman defeat an adversary who knows his modus operandi, his motivations... even his very own instincts? This battle of good versus evil will feature a surprising twist that will bring a shocking surprise to the DC Universe.

The surprise unfolds more fully in Batman/Superman #1, the kickoff issue of an ongoing series by Joshua Williamson & David Marquez. In this debut issue, Superman and Batman can trust no one... for the Secret Six walk among them. No, not characters from the old DC miniseries—six people infested by the Batman Who Laughs with a pathogen that transforms them into the most evil versions of themselves. (Between this pathogen and the Anti-Life Equation infection in DCeased, it's beginning to seem that the DCU might not be the best place to visit unless you're up-to-date on all your inoculations!) Like Fox Mulder, Batman and Superman can trust no one—perhaps not even each other!—as they face a terrifying new threat that could strike from anywhere... or anyone. Now the Dark Knight and the Man of Steel must journey into the depths of Gotham City to learn which of their fellow heroes has been transformed into the horrifying horseman of their most dangerous and deranged foe ever.

This series will mark David Marquez's DC debut; for many years, Marquez has made his home at Marvel, but Batman/Superman was an opportunity the artist couldn't pass up. "That I'd be able to build it from the ground up, and also that it was actually a meaningful big project, were really important factors," Marquez told hollywoodreporter.com. "In terms of the characters involved and the role it plays in the broader DCU and its evolving narrative, working with Josh who's one of the biggest writers there—these reasons sold me on the idea of doing this book."

"We discover, through The Batman Who Laughs series, that the Batman Who Laughs has been working on this massive plan since [Dark Nights] Metal... He has sleeper agents throughout the [DC Universe]. They've been infected, and they're slowly turning into the worst versions of themselves," Williamson explained. "Some of them know they're changing; some don't. Some aren't aware it's kind of like a Jekyll and Hyde situation where they're not aware of [what] the other side is doing. This is happening to six people—we've been calling them the new Secret Six—who have been turned. But who could be turned? Who are they? [Batman and Superman] have to go out and figure it out. But that means spying on other heroes, friends, allies. We talked about the end of The Thing, where it's the two of them and they're like, 'It could be you, it could be me, but now we have to work together.'"

The Batman Who Laughs #7, a $4.99 comic, is scheduled for July 31st release. Batman/Superman #1 follows two weeks later; the first issue wil be offered with three covers: a Batman cover by Marquez and a Superman cover by Marquez (which fit together to form a striking image) and a variant cover by Leinil Francis Yu.

King's Reign Comes to an End... Sort of...

In a surprise announcement just a few weeks after writer Tom King discussed his 100-issue Batman game plan, DC has announced that King will leave the flagship title after Batman #85 at the end of this year. 2021 will see the debut of a new—and as yet unnamed—writer. At the same time, the book will also transition from 24 issues a year to 12 issues a year, bringing the biweekly Bat-era to an end.

Don't assume that King is saying farewell to Batman's universe, though: A month after he leaves Batman, he'll launch a new 12-issue miniseries, Batman/Catwoman, illustrated by Clay Mann. (Since his bait-and-switch with the Batman/Catwoman wedding back in Batman #50 created such an uproar, it'll be interesting to see what he does with these characters in this new series.)

"Batman/Catwoman is a chance to do what Morrison and Quietly did in Batman and Robin: launch an ambitious, accessible, beautiful, thrilling new series that concludes years of stories and defines what Batman is, can, and will be," King said. "This will be a comic about what the best Batman comics have always been about, how our greatest hero turns fear into bravery, pain into hope, trauma into love. It's the story I always wanted to tell, and I'm telling it with the man I consider to be the greatest artist in comics, my brother Clay Mann.

"It's tough to leave Batman. It's a gift and a joy to be on that book. But I'm leaving it to work on the biggest, most ambitious projects of my career, comics I get to make with the best collaborators in comics. And that's a gift and a joy, too."
